“ my favorite memory of my father in law, was a trip to Illinois where we set and talked for what seemed like hours and he talked about his children and his love for them and he talked about each of them and he told me the story of how he fought to get back home to make it to his first sons, my husband, first birthday party how he wasn't going to stop until he was home for the birthday for his son.

The love he showed for his children was incredible I'll never forget that in all the years that I live. You are truly missed and loved I love you, Sarah Thatch
